Questions on analogy for week 4

So, now that you have seen the animation of the analogy of Aditi and Balraj, why don't you write down a scenario, where you assume the roles of Aditi and Balraj and try to see how can you use that two code two key box and communicate securely. The other question that we have is, you could also think about a way, where they could use their previous box which have the challenge of the keys getting leaked and still be able to communicate securely now by using this new two pair two code box. So, go ahead and think about it and we will meet you in the next week.
