How to download copy of a patent specification?

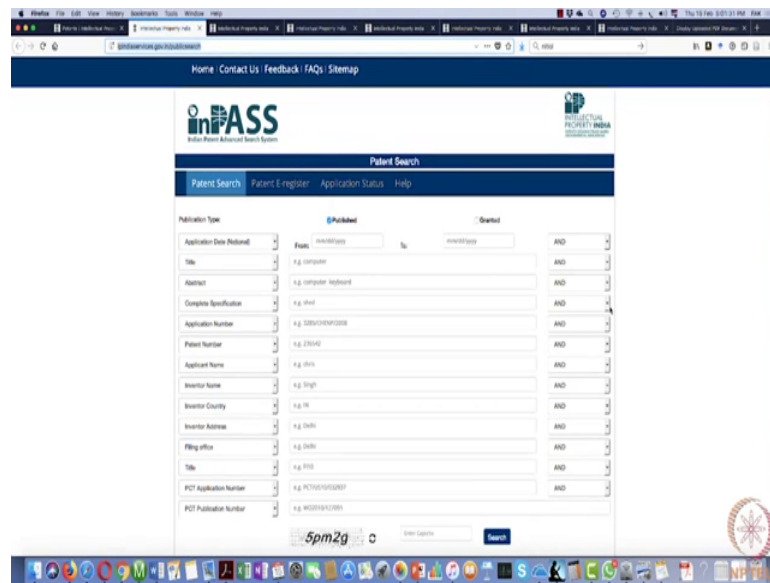

(Refer Slide Time: 00:21)

Normally, it will not be necessary for us to tell you how to download a copy of a patent specification, but in this case taking things out of the patent office could be tricky. So, I will just explain you through this short lesson on how to look for things in the Indian patent office website.

Now, once you come to the patent office website there is this place where you can see the grant public search of granted patents.

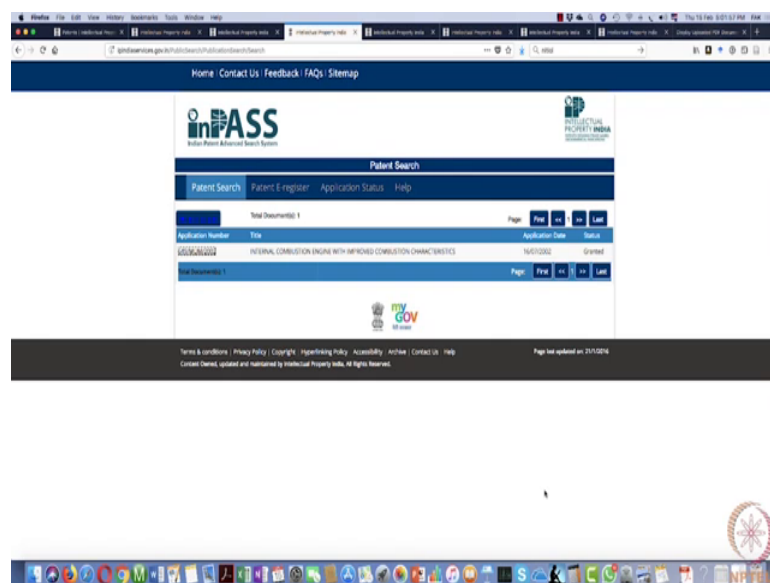

(Refer Slide Time: 00:49)

Once you click on it you will go to a page that looks like this you can enter the patent number here, we know this patent number you would have seen this before and this is the patent number which we used for discussing the Bajaj case the Bajaj is patented for the twin spark plug in an internal combustion engine employing 4-stroke technology.

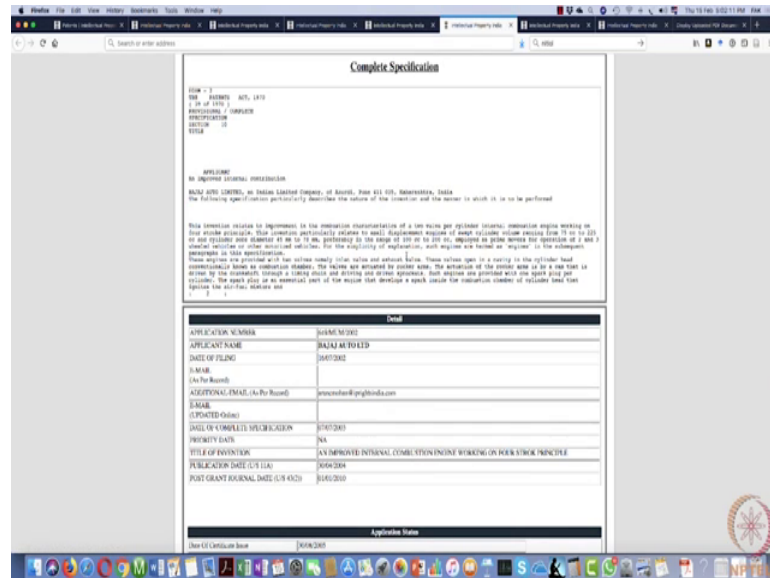

Now, so, you we search on it, we add the captcha and when we press search we go to a page that looks like this.

You have the invention title, the publication number, application filing date, then the category field of invention and abstract complete specification.

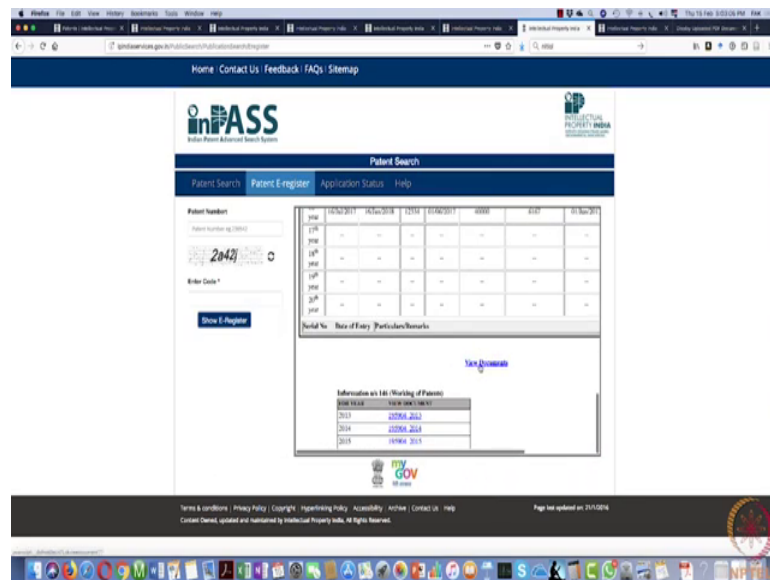

Now, this is where you can find the complete specification and the claims it ends with the claims. Now, but this is not where you can download stuff now for that you need to move further. Now, you need to come to this part the patent E-register and fill in the patent number and enter the code and this thing opens up.

This is the title page and the provisional which was filed in 2002. Now, this is the title page of the granted now there are description drawings. Now, we are interested in the claims this one claims as granted and also in the claims as filed there will be the normal complete this one. So, I have already downloaded these two documents I will just show them to you.
